Appendix C

Common problems

The following are some of the commonly faced problem by new user.

Problem:

At times when I press [F4], a error message "Listing.txt not found!" is seen. Why is that so?

Answer:

When accessing [F4]-Sample and [F6]-Sampler function, Tetra Compositor will look for the file "Listing.txt" which contain the sample listing in that directory. If it is not found, Tetra Compositor will presume that there are no instrument samples in that directory. Thus the error message appears.

Remedy:

You are probably in the wrong directory. Use [F1] to enter the File Manager and change your directory to [SAMPLE]. Press [F4] again.

Problem:

I could not access the Sample Editor.

Answer:

You have to check the following before proceeding further;

1. The mouse setup, ensure that you are using a Microsoft or Compatible mouse.
2. During TCSETUP, ensure that you choose Sound Blaster Card as your option.
3. Ensure that you Sound Blaster Card is properly installed.

If any of the above condition is not met, you can not access Sample Editor.

Problem:

While I was editing in the Sample Editor, I notice that every times a function is activated the mouse pointer disappears. Is this a bug?

Answer:

No. When a function is executed in Sample Editor, the mouse pointer is turned off to ensure minimum interruption. This is because Tetra Composer requires very precise calculation during execution.

Problem:

I have a collection of .SD4, .MOD and .NST files. However, when loading some of this collection, a error message " Error reading file!" "Press 'Y' to load anyway. (This can cause errors!) " is observed and when I answer "Y", the system hangs?

Answer:

The file loaded is not the appropriate song format that is accepted by Tetra Composer. Thus further loading of the file will cause error in Tetra Composer. This might result in hang the computer system.
